

Source: <https://www.president.gov.ua/>

Conference: One year into the Russian invasion of Ukraine

- how it changed Europe and how the war may end

To mark that Russia's invasion of Ukraine has now been ongoing for a year, the Centre for European Politics and the Centre for Military Studies at the Department of Political Science - together with the European Commission and the Danish Foreign Policy Society - are hosting a public conference, where leading experts on European security and Ukraine will discuss the consequences of the war and how the war may end.

Speakers include:

Lars Løkke Rasmussen (Minister of Foreign Affairs of Denmark), tbc

Vydoynk Mykhailo (Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Ukraine to DK), tbc

Serhii Plokhii (Professor, Harvard University)

Kristi Raik (Deputy Director, Estonian International Centre for Defence and Security)

Benjamin Tallis (Senior Research Fellow, German Council on Foreign Relations)

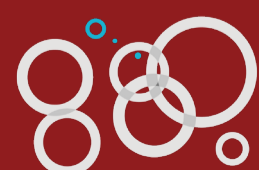

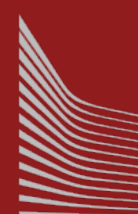

Søren Liborius (Chief Advisor, European External Action Service)

Moderator: Marlene Wind (Professor and Special Advisor for HRVP Josep Borrell)

Date and time: Thursday, February 23 at 15:00-18:15, followed by networking

Venue: University of Copenhagen, City Campus (CSS), Room 35.01.05, entrance from Gammeltoftsgade 15, 1353 København K.

Find the full program and register no later than Wednesday, February 22 at: <https://cms.polsci.ku.dk/events/>

DET UDENRIGSPOLITISKE SELSKAB
THE DANISH FOREIGN POLICY SOCIETY